

Science meets Practice: Rowing

VU University Amsterdam

Van der Boechorststraat 9, room A301

Invitation

Wednesday 10 Feb 2010

Related to the PhD ceremony of Mathijs Hofmijster
Faculty of Human Movement Sciences

14:00
Coffee and Tea

14:15
Mechanics and Energetics of Rowing
Mathijs Hofmijster, VU University, Amsterdam

14:45
CFD computations around oar blades
Alban Leroyer, Ecole Centrale de Nantes

15:15
Propulsion in Swimming
Huub Toussaint, VU University, Amsterdam

15:45
Coffee and Tea

16:00
Ongoing work on the simulation of rowing by a robotic approach
François Rongère and Jean-Michel Kobus,
Ecole Centrale de Nantes

16:30
The energetically paradoxical training characteristics of elite rowers
Stephen Seiler, University of Agder, Kristiansand

17:00
Drinks

please register by sending an e-mail to:
roeisymposium@fbw.vu.nl
(there is no registration fee)

Science meets Practice: Rowing

VU University Amsterdam

Van der Boechorststraat 9, room A301

Invitation

Wednesday 10 Feb 2010

Related to the PhD ceremony of Mathijs Hofmijster
Faculty of Human Movement Sciences

14:00
Coffee and Tea

14:15
Mechanics and Energetics of Rowing
Mathijs Hofmijster, VU University, Amsterdam

14:45
CFD computations around oar blades
Alban Leroyer, Ecole Centrale de Nantes

15:15
Propulsion in Swimming
Huub Toussaint, VU University, Amsterdam

15:45
Coffee and Tea

16:00
Ongoing work on the simulation of rowing by a robotic approach
François Rongère and Jean-Michel Kobus,
Ecole Centrale de Nantes

16:30
The energetically paradoxical training characteristics of elite rowers
Stephen Seiler, University of Agder, Kristiansand

17:00
Drinks

please register by sending an e-mail to:
roeisymposium@fbw.vu.nl
(there is no registration fee)

The Faculty of Human Movement Sciences forms part of the campus of the Vrije Universiteit (VU). This campus is situated at the south-side of Amsterdam, right next to the ring-road.

by public transport

From Central Station:

express tram 51 (16 minutes)

tram 5 or 16 (25 minutes)

From Station Zuid / WTC:

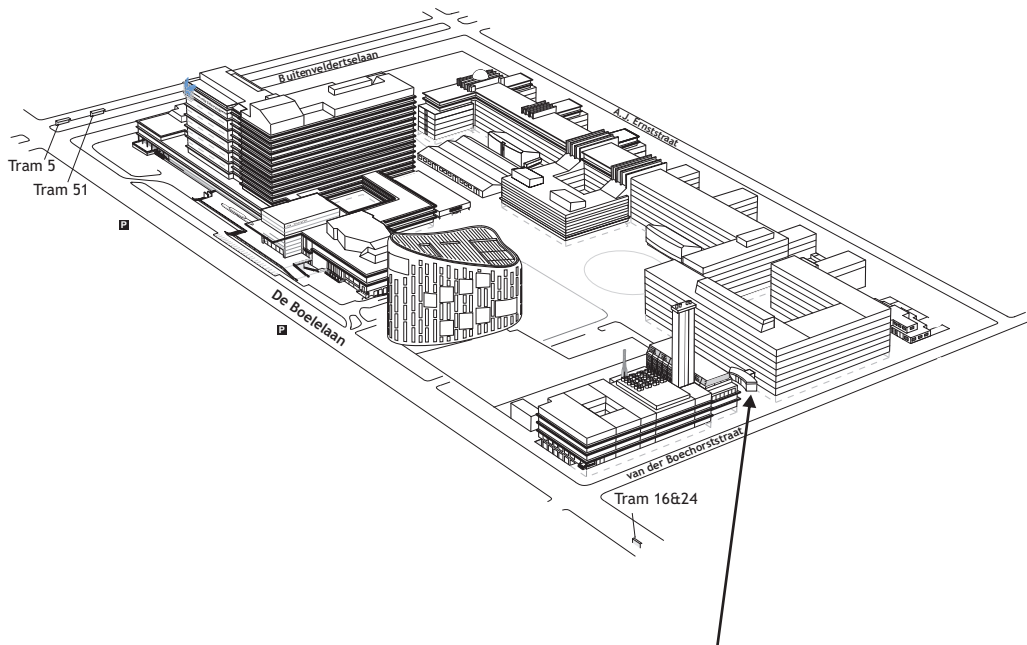

express tram 51 (1 minute), direction: Poortwachter

tram 5 (1 minute), direction: Poortwachter

the station is within 10 minutes walking distance.

by car

The A-10 Amsterdam ring-road can be reached from all directions. Take exit S-108 (Buitenveldert) and follow the signs "VU Hospital".

VU University, Medical Building
Room A301 (3rd floor)
Van der Boechorststraat 9

The Faculty of Human Movement Sciences forms part of the campus of the Vrije Universiteit (VU). This campus is situated at the south-side of Amsterdam, right next to the ring-road.

by public transport

From Central Station:

express tram 51 (16 minutes)

tram 5 or 16 (25 minutes)

From Station Zuid / WTC:

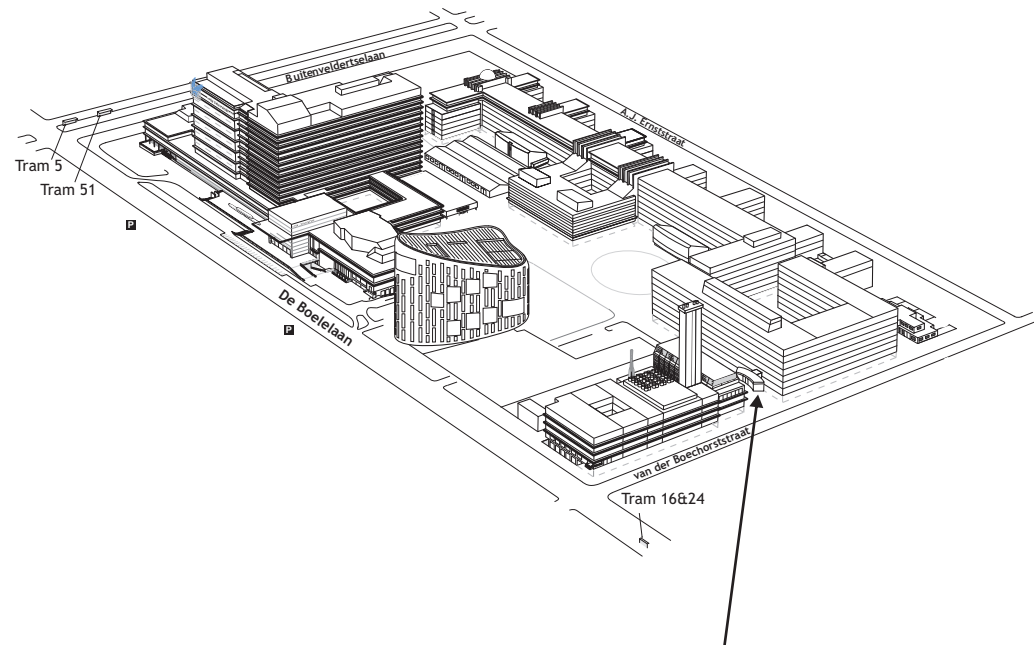

express tram 51 (1 minute), direction: Poortwachter

tram 5 (1 minute), direction: Poortwachter

the station is within 10 minutes walking distance.

by car

The A-10 Amsterdam ring-road can be reached from all directions. Take exit S-108 (Buitenveldert) and follow the signs "VU Hospital".

VU University, Medical Building
Room A301 (3rd floor)
Van der Boechorststraat 9